AFRONEWS - ORTEL MOBILE

AFRICAN COMMUNITY IN GERMANY AWARDS (2021)

GALA NIGHT FRANKFURT

Why we launched AFRONEWS – Ortel Mobile African Community in Germany Awards

Welcome to this special edition of Afronews.de published on the occasion of the first Annual AFRONEWS – Ortel Mobile African Community in Germany Awards.

The awards are organised by Afronews.de, the newspaper for Africans in Germany in partnership with Ortel Mobile, Germany's leading prepaid sim cards provider for people with a migration background.

The AFRONEWS – Ortel Mobile African Community in Germany Awards celebrate and recognise outstanding achievements of Africans in different fields in Germany.

There are so many Africans in Germany who have excelled in different fields.

There are also many African associations carrying out important activities to safeguard the wellbeing of our people, promote a positive image of Africa and Africans, support the needy and facilitate integration of Africans in Germany. Unfortunately, most of these efforts are hardly recognised.

This is why we have launched the AFRONEWS – Ortel Mobile African Community in Germany Awards to recognise and celebrate these African achievers in Germany. These role models from our communities deserve not only to be recognised and celebrated but also encouraged to continue the good work they are doing.

We need to proudly display these outstanding people, these role models in order to help our younger ones find a source of inspiration from withing our communities while, at the same time changing the narrative about our communities.

We plan to organise the African Community in Germany Awards every year to fulfil that important mission of recognising and celebrating our achievers.
Welcome once more and enjoy reading the profiles of the people and associations nominated for AFRONEWS – Ortel African Community in Germany Awards 2021.
Thank you.

RAISE – The Gambian helping Hands

RAISE – The Gambian helping Hands promotes international relations between the Gambians and Germans.

It facilitates connections between the schools in Germany and the Gambia and supports Gambian schools and teachers with educational materials.

Through Mr Yahya Sonko, an experienced Gambian refugee activist who is the Vice Chair of the association, RAISE – The Gambian helping Hands works with Gambian refugees in Germany.

It organises seminars and workshops about asylum and integration procedures in Germany. It also provides legal support to enable Gambians in Germany obtain their national documents.

The association raises funds to support Gambian refugees in case of emergency. During deportations, RAISE – The Gambian helping Hands normally helps deportees pack and transport back home their valuable belongings.

It also takes care of transporting to the Gambia the bodies of Gambian refugees and immigrants who die in Germany.

The association has set up education and entrepreneurship project in the Gambia to support Gambians in Germany who would like to voluntarily return home.

African Mums in Deutschland e.V.

The motto of African Mums in Deutschland e.V. is Supporting African Women in Germany to thrive.

It was initiated by Maame Dentaa Amoo as a support group on Facebook in August 2018 with the aim of empowering and enabling women of African backgrounds, most especially mothers with their journey to integration in Germany.

African Mums in Deutschland e.V. has grown to over 5200 members currently.

Its dedicated team consists mostly of women who are from African and migrant backgrounds working tirelessly to give others a better future.

The vision of African Mums in Deutschland e.V. is to empower and enable women of African heritage and their families achieve successful integration in Germany and achieve whatever socio-economic goals they have set for themselves.

The association does this by providing specialist information, advice, guidance, resources and programmes to help lift the barriers women face which prevent them from taking charge of their futures and achieving their socio-economic goals.

Throughout the years, the association has opened its door to hundreds of women and families who, without its support may not have had any future at all.

African Youth Abroad Empowerment (AYAE)

African Youth Abroad Empowerment (AYAE) was founded by James Obed Kitson to empower and support the African youth living in the diaspora.

Mr Obed Kitson is the C.E.O. of PEECOM PLUS UG, and he has played a wonderful role to mentor young Africans in Germany through workshops and seminars.

The African Youth Abroad Empowerment (AYAE) organizes workshops and events that help its members and interested individuals add to their skills and also improve their lifestyle and career.

It educates the youth on matters that relate to them and gives them information that they need to grow personally and professionally.

Mr James Obed Kitson, Founder of AYAE once said: "It has come to our notice that most African youth living abroad do not have the prerequisite knowledge of immigration laws, for example in Germany the youth who arrive to study or to work usually have close to no knowledge about the rights they are entitled to, as well as the responsibilities they must fulfil."

Hearsay information which has been handed down from generation to generation is what they are told and what they apply.

Unfortunately, this kind of information lacks basis and is not based on facts, hence we find our youth either getting into trouble with the authorities or missing out on opportunities they are entitled to."

The AG-Career Hub is an information and consulting platform founded in 2018 by Kenyan Professionals based in Germany.

It shares career and business opportunities in Germany and in Africa with the goal of connecting companies & organisations, professionals and students with the opportunities.

The two questions at the heart of its activities are:

1. Which role can African Professionals in the Diaspora play in building and establishing sustainable partnerships and collaborations in the academia and industry sectors between Germany and Africa?

2. What needs to be done to make sure that young people in the African continent get access to career and business opportunities, connecting them with universities, companies and industries and funding organisations?

The main goals of the organisation are to:
1. Establish a sustainable platform connecting universities, companies and social communities with students and professionals looking for opportunities in Germany or back in Africa.

2. Establish a Business Directory of Companies & Organisations with focus on Africa.

3. Identify sustainable and suitable technologies for the African market.

4. Identify funding programmes for studies and research in Germany and in Africa.

5. Build an academic home in Germany for Africans in the diaspora and offer mentoring programmes.

6. Support Brain Gain by highlighting job openings and funding programmes to support returnees and projects back in Africa.

7. Knowledge transfer through conducting workshops and business events and career events.

8. Identify and showcase innovations in Africa.

Together with a team and a pool of experts and mentors with different academic and professional skills who have trained, worked in Germany and who have also happily relocated back to their countries of origin, the AG-Career Hub is dedicated to establishing that sustainable collaboration between Germany and the African countries with the goal of creating a win-win environment for all.
The AG-Career Hub has been on the forefront assisting students-to-be, students and professionals in Germany.

It offers consolidated information that can enable one to achieve their dreams in Germany. Through success stories of professionals based in Germany and Africa, AG-Career Hub motivates people in daring to dream.

Its website contains all kind of information in regard to studying and working in Germany, especially current calls for scholarships.

On top of that they post current jobs in Germany and Africa. Recently they partnered with the EBu University to offer scholarships for business related courses.

Afrika Festival Tübingen

The International Afrika Festival Tübingen is a platform that proudly celebrates African cultures.
Launched in 2007, the International Afrika Festival Tübingen is a cultural festival with a strong business bias.

Dr Susan Tatah, the founder of the Festival, has always been keen to ensure it markets African countries as tourist and investment destinations.

The appealing African cultural activities are used to attract people to the Festival in order to enable them to learn about Africa, Africans, their traditions, and above all, let them discover investment opportunities in African countries.

Convinced that foreigners can't effectively do business in Africa without proper knowledge of the continent and its cultures, Dr Tatah always makes sure the Afrika Festival Tübingen provides Germans a good platform to learn about African countries and their cultures.

The Festival is also a platform for Africans in Germany to gain more knowledge about their traditional and modern cultures and become proud of them.

The Festival has created networking opportunities for African and German businesspeople.

It has made Germans appreciate African music to an extent that many German FM radio stations now continuously play African music.

"It brings together more than 10.000 visitors each year to the beautiful university Town of Tübingen."

The Afrika Festival Tübingen is indeed a perfect platform for integration of immigrants. It creates a unique opportunity for Germans and Africans from all parts of Germany to come together and get immersed in African cultural activities.

At the Festival participants always have a chance of tasting and enjoying a variety of African dishes. It brings together more than 10.000 visitors each year to the beautiful university Town of Tübingen.

Deejay Aisher - The turntable goddess

THE BEST AFRICAN DJ IN GERMANY

Deejay Aisher - The turntable goddess

DJ Aisher is one of the fastest rising African DJs in Berlin, Germany because of her knowledge and mastery of the art.

Fondly known as the incredible and undisputed Turntable Goddess, DJ Aisher, is the first and only Kenyan female DJ in Europe.

She decided to become a DJ because of the passion and love she had and has for music.

DJ Aisher has proved that she can make people dance like hell. She is extremely popular in Germany and has backed most of the famous African artists who come for shows in the country.

DJ Aisher is one of the few African celebrities in Germany who are critical of gross human rights violations and election malpractices in African countries.

"She has in fact been challenging African celebrities to have courage and speak up against human rights violations."

Earlier this year, DJ Aisher publicly declared her support for Mr Bobi Wine, the leading Ugandan opposition leader who claimed to have won the recent presidential elections but was robbed of his victory.

The Turntable Goddess is keen on mentoring young girls and ladies willing to become DJs.

Florence Oriwo
Oriwo Design

THE BEST AFRICAN FASHION DESIGNER IN GERMANY

Oriwo Design Fashion label is the brainchild of Florence Oriwo, a self-taught Kenyan Fashion Designer.
Florence has succeeded in conquering Germany with her beautiful line of African prints, colours and patterns inspired by modern European cuts and shapes. Oriwo Design is a mix of comfortable classic and modern styles which can be worn any day.

The elegance of her designs, and her attention to detail have made them win the hearts of both African and German clients. Florence designs beautiful clothes for women, men and kids.

She obtained a Degree in Business Administration (Accounting Option) from Maseno University in Kenya in December 2007 and came to Germany in September 2008.

Fashion design had been Florence's passion since childhood. As a young girl, she used to design and make her own clothes using a needle and thread because she couldn't afford a sewing machine. It is indeed challenging being self-employed in the creative world.

"There is nothing so demanding as expecting your creativity to provide for you and your family."

It is an unending rollercoaster of emotions as you to try to align your emotions which obviously influence your creativity with the rationale which is basically required in the financial part of any business.

I have personally lost count of the number of times that I have decided to 'hang up my sewing machine' (proverbially) & give it all up," Florence says. She however quickly points that motivation comes from seeing the joy of those wearing her designs. No matter the challenges, fashion design is satisfying indeed.

"Receiving a picture from a woman donning one of my creations with a Thank you note attached to it where she tells me how good she feels in her outfit and encouraging me to keep on doing what I do is so worth it. It is such moments that I store in my memory to be able to reach out for during the hard times to keep me going," Florence says.

The Kenyan-born Fashion Designer considers fashion design a special mission. "I am an African woman living in the Diaspora who is using her creativity to change the world by putting a smile on another woman's face and heart, one outfit after another.

And somehow in the process, putting food on my table but also being happy to have the opportunity to share my gift with the world," she says.

Gillian Lwangu Piroth

My Ethnic Cooking & Catering (MEC)

Gillian Lwangu Piroth, a Kenyan born lady is making it possible for people in Germany to enjoy delicious Kenyan meals without having travel all the way to Kenya.

She is based in Frankfurt where she has founded and runs My Ethnic Cooking & Catering (MEC), the first African cookery school in Germany registered in Eschborn.

Gillian has an ambitious plan of teaching people from other cultures how to cook African dishes and the history of African dishes before the colonial period.

If you would like to take a culinary trip, have a nice kitchen party with friends and other cooking enthusiasts, discover best African recipes and learn to prepare tastiest dishes, then get in touch with My Ethnic Cooking & Catering (MEC).

Ms Piroth also hosts African cooking courses for cooperates/companies who want to organise team building events or hobby cooks who are interested in exploring different recipes, other ways of cooking and different spices.

My Ethnic Cooking & Catering stands for delicious, healthy African cuisine, for diversity and for African cultures.

"We not only offer food from our wonderful continent, but also the African joie de vivre that is often associated with our culture. Overall, we offer a comprehensive culinary experience for you and your guests that you will not soon forget," says Ms Piroth.

My Ethnic Cooking & Catering services are perfect for your house and corporate dinner parties, birthday celebrations and more.

The company hosts both online and interactive classes where you and your guests can join the chef in the kitchen to prepare that special meal.
And if all you want is to a high-class catering service to impress your guests with that perfect dinner party, just arrange to have chef Piroth from My Ethnic Cooking & Catering.
